A SIGNATURE FARAH KHAN
BATHROOM SUITE

Farah Khan Ali

Farah Khan- the jewellery maestro is not just a designer but an artist of masterpieces and an orator of stories. Her creations are conceived in her zealous imagination that allows her the freedom to make the impossible possible. Brimming with ideas and creativity, Farah's tales of thought, inspiration and craftsmanship are narrated within her magnificent jewellery theatre.

For 28 years, Farah has arduously nurtured her brainchild Farah Khan a multifaceted brand that designs couture as well as prêt jewellery, luxury lifestyle accessories and home products. Her experience with fine jewellery created with exceptional craftsmanship is testimony to her skillful mastery of handling metals and knowledge of the tiniest intricacies involved in the creation of a product. Artistically bringing metal to life creating a harmonious symphony of form amalgamated with function is the speciality of the Farah Khan design experience.

Farah Khan is now expanding its design expertise by venturing into the arena of luxurious bathroom suites in collaboration with the German brand Sternhagen. This fortuitous collaboration brings the sophisticated design sensibilities of Farah Khan in the form of exquisite luxury bathroom ware with the technological expertise and cutting-edge manufacturing methodologies of Sternhagen, to the comfort of your homes.

A Bath suite is more than just a place to take a shower. Its where one pauses to think of the day to begin or the day gone by. It is a time to reflect with yourself alone and time to prepare or even unwind for the day. With my first lifestyle brand association I chose Bathrooms because it involved use of ceramic, metal, and Quartz, all materials which I'm familiar working with in my line of jewellery. Also, the idea of collaborating with a luxury brand like Sternhagen, that prides itself for art with engineering made me want to align my design sensibilities with them.

For my first collection, I chose Royal Flair, a design vision in my coffee table book Farah Khan - A Bejeweled life - I draw deeply from India's artistic heritage and contemporize its traditional forms to create something current and universal. With a merging of ancient techniques and modern technology I craft a narrative that is truly global in its essence. Inspired from palatial arches and royal historic monuments from the Golden age of Indian architecture with roots deep seated in the awe-inspiring history of our country's heritage, this collection is an ode to that glorious rich culture we call India.

The image features a technical drawing of a bowl-like object with a central pedestal. The drawing is composed of white lines on a dark background. The bowl has a wide rim and a flared body. The pedestal is a small, conical structure in the center. A circular inset in the upper right shows a cross-section of a decorative element, which is a stylized, four-lobed shape. The drawing includes various construction lines, such as arcs and straight lines, indicating the geometric construction of the object. The overall style is that of a technical or architectural sketch.
